https://youtu.be/SemHh0n19LA Makes ideas much more expensive, manageably

"Start where you are, you're not not late for anything"

3 solutions to seed from and build outwards

Sneak up on the future because In not sure if this is exactly what i want

12:03

2

You are wherever you are

We'll start there

You're not late to anything

The greatest enemy we face is ourselves and this battle is no ordinary one, it requires new rules of non-combative self talk, let alone dialogue, and a trenchourous campaign that requires espionage & collusion with a better version of us

Successive change is indusive of success that leaves a trail of burnt rubber on concrete that drifters can tell you is a unique way to leave a mark in the world